FOREST CONSERVATION JOB DAY

MAY 6, 2022

Online

Sustainable forest management represents one of the greatest economic potentials in Africa. From the latest trends emerge serious opportunities for economic and human development (timber processing, certifications, carbon credit, sustainable tourism, etc.).

But thousands of jobs remain unfilled.

On one hand, companies and organizations are struggling to find candidates; on the other hand, qualified talents are unsuccessfully looking for job opportunities.

The Forest Conservation Job Day has a mission: to be a platform where companies and organizations meet talents.

This job fair is also both a dynamic space for discussions and exchanges on human capital management and a large offer of training opportunities.

It is organized by Professor Baudouin Michel, Director of ERAIFT, and Ernestine Tipi, President of the Association of ERAIFT Alumni Students.

Baudouin Michel

Since 2010, Baudouin Michel has been the Director of the Regional Postgraduate School for the Integrated Planning and Management of Tropical Forests and Territories (ERAIFT), a Category 2 Center under the auspices of UNESCO.

An agro-economy engineer, he has also been lecturing at Gembloux Agro-Bio Tech/University of Liège (Belgium) since 1992.

Lastly, since 2017, he is a Special Envoy of the African Parks Network (RSA), a world leader in the management of natural reserves.

www.eraift-rdc.org

Since 1999, students from 22 African countries have enrolled at ERAIFT in the pursuit of a Masters or a PhD. ERAIFT is funded by the DRC, UNESCO, the European Union, USAID, Belgium, Germany, FAO, Japan, and other partners.

Among its technical partners : University Paris Est (France), University of Liège (Belgium), University of Laval (Canada).

Ernestine Tipi

As President of the Association of ERAIFT Alumni Students, Ernestine Tipi is also preparing a PhD in Integrated Planning and Management of Forests and Tropical Territories.

She has worked as a Technical Assistant and international consultant for agroforestry programs in DRC.

Since 2019, she has been working in the management of the Luki Biosphere Reserve (DRC) and coordinating a project for the resilience of local communities to climate change.

RADDI

The Association of ERAIFT Alumni Students called "RADDI" brings together former students - who have become senior executives in the private and public sectors, and entrepreneurs; and freshly graduated students.

As Masters and PhD holders, they come from all over Africa.

RADDI organizes conferences and projects, publishes a newsletter, and connects its members to businesses.
